CHRISTINE HASSLER

At this time, will you please take a moment to turn your cell phones to “silent” or “off” and refrain from text messaging during the program in consideration of our speaker and our audience. Thank you.

My name is _____. I am (leadership position or organization), and it’s my pleasure to welcome you.

This program is sponsored by (list organizations).

Inspired by her own post-college unexpected challenges and experiences, Christine Hassler wrote the first personal growth book written exclusively for young people, entitled Twenty-Something, Twenty-Everything. Her book helps twenty-somethings discover the answers to the questions she was struggling with: Who am I, What do I want and How do I get it? Her second book, The Twenty-Something Manifesto, exposes what the twenty-something years are really like and teaches life skills needed to create change and direction in one’s life.

Christine has appeared on The Today Show, CNN, FOX, ABC and PBS, as well as various local television and radio shows, speaking about the issues inhibiting today’s young generation and offering support and guidance during this life-defining decade. She writes a weekly advice column for twenty-somethings on the Huffington Post and consults with corporations about attracting, engaging and retaining the Gen Y workforce.

Christine is a life coach and counselor, leads seminars and workshops and speaks to twenty-something audiences around the country. She is living proof that one can recover from Expectation Hangovers™, and truly transform their life and discover their purpose.

Please join me in welcoming Christine Hassler!
